Howard is an accomplished attorney with more than 35 years of experience representing businesses and individuals in need of practical, innovative, and effective solutions to solve their complex business problems. Howard's real-life experience over his career includes representing both creditors and debtors during the course of several recessions and times of economic challenges. His practice includes representing plaintiffs and defendants in federal and state court litigation and receivership cases, and debtors and creditors in Chapter 11 reorganization cases.

Howard's work has taken him to courts around the United States where he has represented clients involved in complex Chapter 11 cases and in federal court litigation. He has been admitted to practice law pro hac vice for clients with significant issues in courts located in New York, Delaware, Texas, California, Florida, Idaho, Georgia, Massachusetts, Oklahoma, Alaska, and elsewhere. Howard has represented clients in major national cases such as PG&E, Inc., Orexigen Therapeutics, Inc., WorldCom, Inc., Enron, Inc., Hawaiian Airlines, PSI Net, Inc., VarTech Inc., Teligent, Inc., and the Diocese of Fairbanks. Howard's extensive bankruptcy and litigation experience includes representing parties in analysis, investigation, and litigation concerning:

- Complicated business disputes (including asserting and defending director and officer liability claims)
- Corporate governance disputes
- Fiduciary breach

He has represented state and federal court receivers, including receivers in a golf and country club receivership, a real estate financing Ponzi-scheme receivership, and a large commercial real estate receivership, as well as creditors and investors impacted by receivership filings. He also has extensive experience in representing factoring companies as a DIP lender in chapter 11 cases.

Howard's Chapter 11 debtor practice includes the unique specialty of representing nonprofit religious corporations in Chapter 11 reorganizations. For example, Howard was debtor-in-possession counsel in the Chapter 11 case of the Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon, the first Diocesan Chapter 11 case filed in the United States; and the Society of Jesus, Oregon Province, the first Catholic religious order to file Chapter 11 in the United States.

Originally from the New York City metropolitan area, Howard moved to Portland in 1979. After a two-year clerkship with Judge Donal D. Sullivan, United States Bankruptcy Judge for the District of Oregon, Howard joined Sussman Shank as an associate in 1982 and became a partner in 1987. He is the chair of the firm's Business Restructuring & Bankruptcy Group.

- Obtained Temporary Restraining Order Against Multi-store Vehicle Dealer
Filed a seven-figure lawsuit in U.S. District Court in Eugene, Oregon on behalf of an out-of-state inventory flooring lender against multi-store affiliated vehicle dealerships. We obtained a temporary restraining order against the dealerships that prohibited the dealerships and their principals from interfering with the client in recovering collateral, and affirmatively required dealerships' principals to cooperate with the client in locating and recovering the collateral. The Court entered the TRO based solely on the motion and supporting declarations, and without requiring the client to post a bond.
- Directors and Officer Liability Defense of Bank Chairman of the Board
Represented the Chairman of the Board of a bank who had been sued for breach of fiduciary duty and other claims arising from the sale of the bank's assets. The bank holding company had filed Chapter 7, and with bankruptcy court approval, the major investor in the debtor sued our client on behalf of the estate. After contentious discovery and extensive negotiations with the plaintiff and the Debtor's D&O insurance carrier, we reached an agreement to settle the client's liability to the estate solely using proceeds from the D&O policy, including covering most of the client's legal fees and costs.
- Limited Partnership Dispute in Chapter 11
Represented the major limited partner in consolidated chapter 11 limited partnership cases pending in the Northern District of Texas. After successfully litigating our objection to claims filed by the general partner and entities he controlled, and objecting to a proposed sale of the Debtors' assets, we located a competing bidder, whose winning bid was large enough to fund a plan we prepared that paid creditors in full and returned significant capital to the limited partners.
- Archdiocese of Portland in Oregon
Sussman Shank served as lead counsel to the Archdiocese of Portland. We developed and implemented a strategy that considered the interplay of First Amendment religious rights, charitable trust, and bankruptcy law in proposing and confirming a reorganization plan that resulted in the settlement and payment of over 250 known clergy sex abuse claims, provided a trust for the liquidation and payment of future abuse claims, and preserved the assets and operations of 124 parishes and 3 Catholic high schools.
- Society of Jesus, Oregon Province
The Society of Jesus, Oregon Province was the first Chapter 11 bankruptcy case filed by a Roman Catholic religious order in the United States. Relying on our experience from the Archdiocese of Portland case, and facing new issues relevant only to a religious order, we were able to implement a strategy for resolving and paying over 500 clergy sex abuse claims through the use of insurance coverage and other assets. This resulted in a plan that was overwhelmingly accepted by all creditors, which included $119 million in contributions from the debtor's insurers and allowed the province to continue its mission throughout Alaska, Idaho, Montana, Oregon, and Washington.

- Major Creditor in Highly Litigious Individual Chapter 11 Case
Represented an out-of-state creditor with multi-million dollar claims against the chapter 11 Debtor, and against whom the Debtor asserted claims in excess of $200 million. We joined with the creditors committee to propose and confirm a liquidating plan under which we obtained a comprehensive release of claims against our client, an injunction against the Debtor, and an allowed claim in favor of our client for $3.2 million. After the plan was confirmed, we obtained two contempt orders against the Debtor. We prevailed on summary judgment to deny the Debtor his bankruptcy discharge and obtained a $3.2 million judgment. All five of the Debtor's appeals were resolved by the District Court in our client's favor.
